

Late at Night

the city is sleeping you're laying awake, next to her and you can't sleep

a fire is burning in your heart as you watch her sleeping her beautiful face is smiling in dream maybe it's a wonderful dream your lips are next to hers but your waiting for something maybe the right moment when the stars are rising she let you in her heart she loves you with everything she got you'll love her till the world falls apart can anybody love her more like you can anybody see something more true than this
