

Bad Stories

Hello.

Here I am.

And I'm thinking about you and me.

Hello.

Here we are now.

And nothing is in order.

I'm missing you.

Every day and night.

I call you but you don't hear it.

I take your picture in my mind.

But it doesn't change the fact that you left.

And I'm alone forever.

And where are you, when I'm crying in the nights?

And who are you, that you thinking all is alright?

And why can't you see it, that I'm still missing you when I remember me?

Somewhere in the past.

We were best friends.

And we thought nothing could ever change it.

Somehow in the present.

We have lost us.

And nothing can change this facts.

Something in the past.

Your forbidden feelings.

And I thought everything is in order.

Some unforgiveable words.

A dispute that changed everything.

And your lies that destroyed our friendship.

And where are you, when I'm crying in the nights?

And who are you, that you thinking all is alright?

And why can't you see it, that I'm still missing you when I remember me?

There is no chance to forgive.

No mercy for us.

We destroyed everything that was important to us.

And I'm telling you bad stories.

From deep in my heart.

And where are you, when I'm crying in the nights?

And who are you, that you thinking all is alright?

And why can't you see it, that I'm still missing you when I remember me?
