

My Destiny

I am walking through the Sand.

Searching for your footsteps. But all I could found, was the time running through my hands. Its like I am dirsty for water.

Like I want to see your face once again.

The Wind let me know, they've changed our plans.

Is this my Destiny?

When we were meant to be.

Why did this whole thing collapse?

Is this my Destiny?

When you went away from me?

Why did this whole thing collapse?

I am walking through the Sand.

There are no footsteps, you won't be found.

I go further away but the sound of your voice still playing in my head.

I am not thirsty for water, all I want is to see your face.

But the Wind let me know, they've changed our plans.

Is this my Destiny?

When we were meant to be.

Why did this whole thing collapse?

Is this my Destiny?

When you went away from me?

Why did this whole thing collapse?

© Rek Deshay

Diese PDF wurde erstellt durch das Schreiber Netzwerk