

Your Little Lullaby

Good evening it's time to say good night/
So lay you down, it's time to fall asleep/
So close your eyes, i hope you've sweet dreams/
But we both know that you'll visidet/
By the monsters you have feeded/
And the nightmares become real/

You can bury it six feet deep/
But every time you fall asleep/
You'll be visited in your dreams/
And this monsters flash their teeths/

You should've to know the price/
For everithing you do/
You've to pay it every night/
When your nightmares come true/
Here is a little lullaby/
And the devil sing it only for you/

You can pull the blanket over your face/
Until you realize, you can't escape/
You can try to run away/
But your nightmares will always wait/
Till you closed your eyes and fall asleep/
You can't every night stay awake/

You can bury it six feet deep/
But every time you fall asleep/
You'll be visited in your dreams/
And this monsters flash their teeths/

You should've to know the price/
For everithing you do/
You've to pay it every night/
When your nightmares come true/
Here is a little lullaby/
And the devil sing it only for you/

Every day you dig your own grave/

Every night you're in your own hell/
You can try to run away/
But there's no chance to escape/
It was your own choice/
And now you've to pay the price/

You can bury it six feet deep/
But every time you fall asleep/
You'll be visited in your dreams/
And this monsters flash their teeths/

You should've to know the price/
For everithing you do/
You've to pay it every night/
When your nightmares come true/
Here is a little lullaby/
And the devil sing it only for you
